Office of Research Administration (ORA)

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND
Division of Research

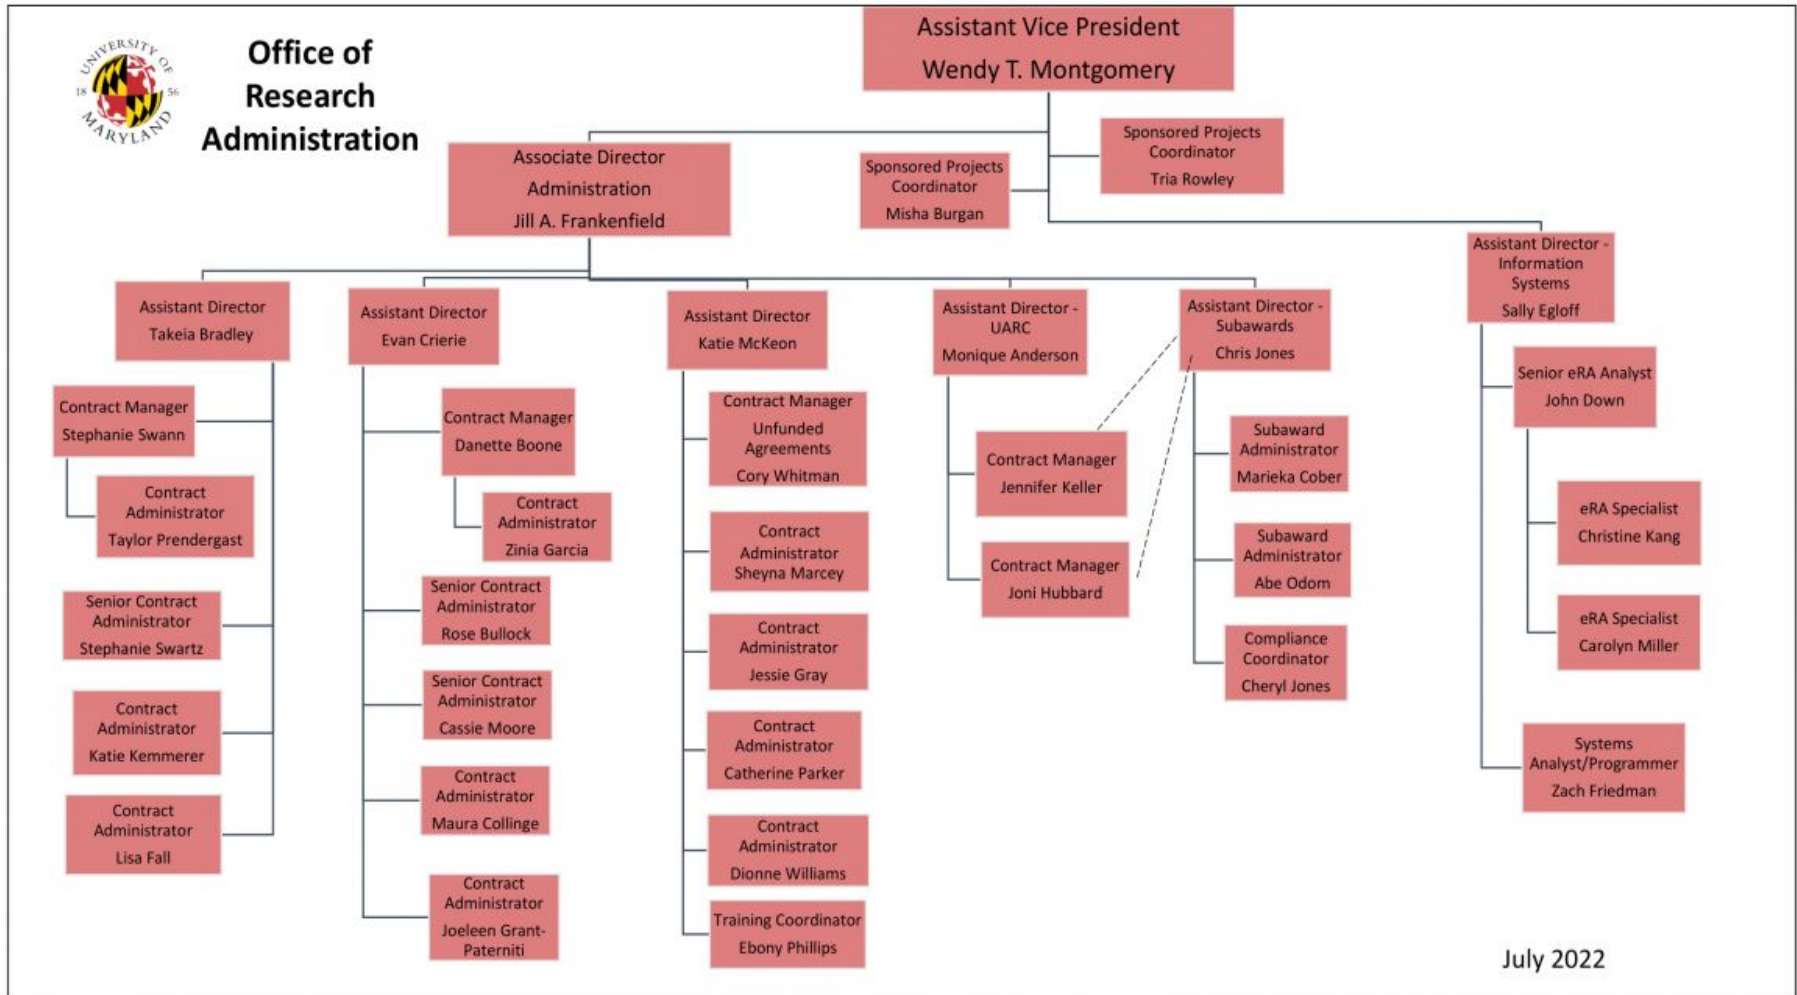

What is ORA?

The Office of Research Administration is the pre-award and non-financial post-award administration office for the University of Maryland

July 2022

What does ORA do?

- Facilitates submission of proposals
- Negotiates and accepts grants and contracts (including incoming non-funded agreements) on behalf of the University
- Helps researchers and departmental business officers administer sponsored projects
- Maintains Kual Research, the system of record for proposal and award information
- Provides reports for sponsored projects

Internal Routing and Review of Proposals

- Principal Investigator is responsible for the budget, technical content, quality, and preparation of the proposal in accordance with sponsor guidelines.
- Department Chair is responsible for certifying to the academic soundness of the project, the compatibility of the project with the Principal Investigator's other commitments, the availability of space and facilities, any cost-sharing commitments, while assuring that the project is in keeping with department and University objectives, and concurring that the proposal should be submitted to the agency named.
- Dean of the College is responsible for determining the appropriateness of the project within College and University programs, and that resources will be available.
- ORA is responsible for ensuring compliance with applicable laws and regulations and with University administrative rules. Concurrently, problems of institutional financing, cost sharing, acceptance of contractual terms, and budget matters will be resolved. ORA works with the Compliance Office in the Division of Research to review matters involving human subjects, DNA research, hazardous substances, export control issues and the experimental use of animals.

Hot Topic: Federal Agency Disclosure Information

In addition to UMD's internal Outside Professional Activity reporting requirement, many research funding agencies also require certain activities to be disclosed during the proposal process and, in some cases, after the project is awarded. The funding agencies use these disclosures to identify possible Conflicts of Interest, Conflicts of Commitment, and also ties with foreign entities. Disclosing accurate and complete information is required by US law. Also, when you certify your proposal in the Quali Research system, you are certifying that you have provided all of the required information. If you have any questions, please contact your contract administrator in ORA.

Hot Topic: COI and Gifts

Conflicts of interest occur when outside professional activities or other significant commitments, whether outside or within the University, interfere with an Employee's (faculty or staff) ability to meet their primary job responsibilities to the University. Because University employees are also State employees, the Maryland State Ethics Law governing conflict of interest also applies.

You must disclose all current or pending gifts in support of your research program to you or through the University. Gifts include funding and/or resources, for example, but not limited to: equipment, materials, software, and other items of value.
