

Teaching @ UMD:

How to Leverage Campus-Wide Resources

Session brought to you by:

--Teaching & Learning Transformation Center (TLTC)

--Division of Information Technology, Learning Technology Strategy (LTS)

RESOURCES FROM THIS SESSION

- Session slides How to Leverage Campus-Wide Resources
- Explore with us: Workshops
- Read on your own: Teaching Resources
- Read: Fearless Teaching Framework
- Take self-paced training Welcome to Teaching @ UMD
- Find technology links: Welcome, Instructors! DIT site
- Read Undergraduate Studies: Catalog 2022-2023
- Read Undergraduate Studies: Course Related Policies

ADDITIONAL HELPFUL LINKS

Teaching & Learning Transformation Center \(TLTC\)

These TLTC guides offer support on getting started teaching, improving your teaching, teaching with technology, and discussing sensitive topics.

Graduate Student Teaching Orientation & Resources

This self-paced guide is designed to provide links to various resources related to common situations faced by graduate student TAs and instructors of record. The sections are organized based on questions so you can find the resources most relevant to you. You can watch videos or review websites based on your individual needs.