Life After the Retirement Party

Emeriti Organization Nurtures Campus Connections, Opportunities for Retired Faculty

Connection. This is the first thing that goes, according to faculty, when they retire. And yet, research shows that having engaged, meaningful connections within a larger community directly correlates to successful aging. So, in 2017, the Office of Faculty Affairs launched an organization to support and engage faculty as they enter this pivotal stage of their professional life. The University of Maryland Emeritus/Emerita Association (UMEEA) connects retired faculty with the university community through support, programming and new avenues for involvement.

Policy and Procedures

Research Integrity

The inherent requirement for integrity in the quest for knowledge and in the creation of scholarly and artistic works is fundamental to the academic purpose. Deviations from the proper conduct of scholarly work erode the public's confidence in science, in scholarship and in institutions of higher education.
